

Clery Overview

The backlash against unreported crimes on numerous campuses across the country led to the Jeanne Clery Disclosure of Campus Security policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act. The Clery Act, signed in 1990 was originally known as the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act. The law was amended in 1992 to add a requirement that schools afford the victims of campus sexual assaults certain basic rights, and was amended again in 1998 to expand the reporting requirements. The 1998 amendments also formally named the law in memory of Jeanne Clery, a 19-year old Lehigh University freshman who was raped and murdered in her campus residence hall in 1986. Subsequent amendments in 2000 and 2008 added provisions dealing with registered sex offender notification and campus emergency response. The 2008 amendments also added a provision to protect crime victims, “whistleblowers”, and other against retaliation. It was most recently amended by the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013 (VAWA) enacted March 7, 2013.

The Clery Act is a federal law that requires colleges and universities to disclose certain timely and annual information about campus crime and security policies.
